C. of C. Committee On Community Chest Drive Appointed

IT was gratifying to us to learn that a definite step has been taken to establish a "Community Chest" for Glendale.

A meeting was held Monday evening by the committee on "Community Chest," which was appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to study this plan.

They decided it advisable to put on the drive late this fall. The drive will be preceded by a publicity campaign so that the citizens will be thoroughly familiar with the benefits of the chest before being asked to support it.

This plan for supporting worthwhile charities has been covered several times by us editorially.

WE have given thought to the Community Chest proposition and can find very few flaws in it. Several cities are now operating them and are more than pleased with the results obtained.

A survey was taken on October 6, 1922, of 120 cities and the following data was collected:

88 cities had thoroughgoing Community Chests.

15 cities had federations of social agencies.

16 cities had councils of social agencies.

This survey proved conclusively that there is a tendency toward some manner of organization for social agencies throughout the country.

IT has been proved that under this plan of giving more people form the habit of giving. Also that those already in the habit of giving, give more freely.

In a city-wide campaign much more enthusiasm can be aroused, not only among the workers but also among the donors.

In the publicity work the entire population are brought into closer touch with social agencies and know the good accomplished by each.

Another important point to consider is the matter of the time of the solicitor and the one solicited which is saved.

IN the fall, when the numerous drives are on, business men are called on to devote their time to the drives of the different organizations. By having the one drive only, all this time could be saved.

If you are not yet sold to this idea, write us your objections. We have considerable data at hand which would probably explain away any doubt you may have as to its merits.

A BOUQUET of 25,000 flowers, each representing a new member who joined the W. C. T. U. during the past twelve months, was presented to Miss Anna A. Gordon, national president of the organization.

To secure this number of new members is quite an achievement, and clearly demonstrates its accomplishments.

The best part of this news is the fact that the state of California furnished nearly one-third of the total, 7254 of the total having been registered from this state.

The people of California have never failed to support a worthwhile movement and it is admitted that the W. C. T. U. is more than worth while.

Elks Ask Donation for Band Trip to Elks' Convention

L. A. TOLLS DISCUSSED

Committee Appointed to Take Subject to Railroad Commission

BY GERTRUDE GIBBS

At the meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce held Tuesday night the hearing given Exalted Ruler James Apffel and Attorney James McBryde who appeared on behalf of the local Elks lodge, to ask for a $500 donation, and a discussion of telephone tolls between Glendale and Los Angeles, were the chief items of interest.

The gentlemen named set forth the purpose of the lodge to send to the state convention to be held at Eureka September 18, its band numbering forty-five members. They recited in persuasive and convincing phrase the advertisement this would be to Glendale since band members would appear at the convention in snappy new uniforms, their big drum would carry the word "Glendale" in large letters, and they would march about the convention city singing Glendale songs which they are now rehearsing. When asked what sum they had figured the chamber should contribute, they admitted $500 had been the amount they had in mind to help defray this expense which they stated would be in the neighborhood of $4500.

Directors Smith, Ferry and Kimlin voiced favorable sentiments echoed by others but also referred to the advertising and budget committees for action. The petitioners stated they would also appear before the city council Thursday evening on a similar mission.

Mr. McBryde suggested that the chamber keep as close watch of the doings of the railroad commission as does the Hollywood chamber. He told of appearing before that commission on behalf of a client seeking a franchise for a bus line to run between Burbank and Hollywood and discovering the Hollywood member of the chamber of commerce as an ally who was of great value in putting the matter through. The Hollywood chamber, Mr. McBryde said, has arranged to secure notices of any hearing before the railroad commission which in any way affects Hollywood. Equal watchfulness on the part of the Glendale chamber he believed would be advantageous to this city.

At the close of the session when the regular business had been disposed of, Director Ferry brought up the matter of telephone tolls between Glendale and Los Angeles and the burden it imposes on the business men of the city, urging the appointment of a committee to take steps to secure a hearing before the railroad commission to see if they cannot be reduced by abolished. General discussion of the subject followed in which various members testified concerning their own monthly bills. Jesse Smith stated that his averaged $80 per month, Earl Pendroy said that one of his recent bills showed a charge for the month of $96, and Mr. Ferry quoted a comparison of monthly bills made five Glendale men who chanced to be together one evening and they averaged $50 each. "The Telephone company," said he, "is taking out of town annually not less than $500,000 with a payroll of only 85 employes. As to the higher Glendale rate which we might have to pay, I would be willing to pay $25 per month for unlimited service with Los Angeles. The fact that the matter is being considered by the Realty Board was mentioned, and as a result of the discussion a committee composed of Albert Pearce, Dr. James A. Bilyea, A. F. Dobson, Harry Chase, and Peter Ferry was appointed to co-operate with the Glendale Realty Board, the Credit Men's association and the city council in bringing the matter to the attention of the railroad commission.

Secretary Sanders read a letter from the Hollywood Bowl association asking for the backing of the Glendale chamber in a production of the opera "Aida" in the bowl. Action on delinquent members behind in their dues was deferred until a special committee composed of Secretary Sanders, W. E. Hewitt and President Smith could function.

Bernard & Son, at 106 S. Maryland, were elected to membership.

A letter from the Railroad Business Men's Association relative to the consolidation of railroads as advocated by President Harding, was referred to Attorneys Bert Woodard and James McBryde.

OTTAWA, Ont.—According to a report of the Dominian Bureau of Statistics, 62,272,169 tons of railway freight originated in Canada in 1922.

FIGHT FANS EXPECTED AT THE PRESS

Biggest Crowd on Record Expected to Hear the Dundee-Crique Report

All fight fans will be welcomed tomorrow night at the Glendale Daily Press, where the ringside report of the clash between Criqui, the iron man of the Verdun front, and the game little man who once knocked out Kilbane, will be given to the public, with the aid of the Associated Press.

If the crowd at the Leonard-Tendler clash is any criterion, the throng which will gather before the Glendale Daily Press tomorrow night to hear the report will be sufficient to block some traffic.

The contest will start at the Yankee Stadium in time to be received here simultaneously at 6 o'clock. It would be well to arrive in time to get a good position. Those who wish may park even on the opposite curb and get a good earful from the announcer.

DE MOLAYS PLAN FOR BIRTHDAY

To Make Merry Tomorrow Evening at Masonic Temple

De Molays of Glendale and their friends will make merry tomorrow evening at the first birthday celebration of Glendale Chapter, to be held at the Masonic Temple at 7:30 p. m.

A dance will be given after the program, the music being supplied by one of the liveliest bunch of syncopaters who have ever played at a local dance.

The exact program has not been divulged by the committee in charge, but it has been announced that some real music will be supplied by first class artists, and that a real treat is in store for those who attend, in the nature of a talk by a prominent speaker, whose identity is being withheld. And then as a final number, a real surprise is promised by the committee. Just what nature the surprise will take is a matter of speculation among the De Molays and even the Masons.

July 20th marked the first birthday of Glendale Chapter, Order of De Molays. Because of the crowded calendar of the Masonic Temple the celebration was postponed until the 26th. Paul O. Morgan, master councilor, states that he expects this affair to be the most successful ever staged by local De Molays.

FOREST AVE. WIDENING TO BE PUT THRU

To Come Before the City Councilmen Thursday Evening

WORK BE ORDERED

Held Up by Lack of Instruction of City Engineer

The matter of the widening of Forest avenue from Brand boulevard to Glendale avenue will be brought up again to the city council Thursday night by City Manager Reeves, who will endeavor to have the matter rushed as rapidly as possible.

Through what seems to be a misunderstanding, the widening of this street has been held up for two or three months. It was generally thought that City Engineer Dupuy had been authorized by the council to go ahead with the widening of this street, the cost of the city's part of the improvement to be paid out of the fund for paving streets in front of school property, in which there is now about $20,000. Harry White, it is understood, has agreed to donate his portion of the street and pay his share of the cost of the improvement. The street is to be widened about 10 feet on either side, thereby affording an excellent connection between Brand and Glendale.

When seen this morning City Engineer Dupuy stated that he had never been given an order to go ahead with this work and for this reason had taken no steps toward having the street widened.

When the matter of the widening of this street is brought up before the council tomorrow night it is probable that that body will order "full speed ahead" on this very necessary improvement.

SHORTEN LIGHT DISTRICT UPON GLENDALE AVE.

The proposed ornamental lighting district on Glendale avenue has been shortened. Originally it was to have extended from San Fernando road to Verdugo road, but it has been decided to place the northern terminus of the district at Lexington. This step was taken on account of the section of the avenue above Lexington being not fully widened at this time.

At this time the lights will be taken up to the north end of the widened section, then when the upper part of Glendale avenue has been widened by those owning property along that stretch the ornamental lights may be placed along that section.

FIRST STEREOTYPE PLANT ARRIVES IN GLENDALE

Part of New Equipment of Daily Press Arrives Here

The first stereotype plant ever brought into Glendale arrived today. It is a part of the equipment of the new Glendale Press plant that is now being installed in the new home of the leading newspaper in Glendale.

The machine was brought into Glendale on two large motor trucks. It passed up Brand boulevard, stopping in front of the present Glendale Press building. Afterwards it went up Brand to this paper's new home.

All of which goes to show that "the Glendale Press do move." From a new-born babe two or three years ago, this paper has grown to be a regular go-getter of a grown-up man—always rarin' to go.

The new 24-page press that the Press has purchased will be brought to Glendale some time this week, and the work of setting it in position will be carried on as rapidly as possible. The new plant of the Glendale Press will be second to none in any of the suburban cities in this section of the country. It will be right up to the minute, which will result in the Press being able to more efficiently serve the public.

"Watch us grow," says the Glendale Daily Press.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 25.—California's welcome, through women, to women of Latin-American countries is symbolized by a group of buildings called La Casa de Los Amigos or House of Friends at the Monroe Doctrine Centennial and Motion Picture Exposition commemorating the hundredth anniversary of the promulgation of the Monroe Doctrine, now being held at Exposition park here.

PACIFIC METHODIST LADIES EARN $20

Considering the many who are absent on vacations, there was an excellent attendance on the "earn a dollar" social given by the Ladies' Aid of the Pacific avenue Methodist church Tuesday night when $20 was turned into the treasury with rhymed stories of how the money was earned. The recitations and monologues by the entertainer of the evening, who is a talented professional at one time associated with Madame Modjeska, were much enjoyed, and the evening in many ways was a success.

BANNER DOLLAR DAY DUE

Signs Summon on All the Roads Leading to Glendale

BARGAINS OFFERED

Retarded Summer Goods to Take the Sales Route at Low Prices

Dollar Day will open tomorrow in Glendale, on a scale and attended by more people than any day of its kind ever attempted in Glendale.

Far up and down the roads leading to the city have been signed with the call of the Glendale merchants and the bids of dollar bargains.

Every part of the city has been notified and the adjacent cities have heard the summons.

The obvious reply to this thoroughly organized campaign to draw trade to Glendale, will be such visitors as only a convention normally brings to the city.

For the Glendalian who through the Monday shopping day has become familiar with the merchants of Glendale, the opportunity is one of particular value in that their special knowledge of the goods at each of the stores will bring to them added values in bargains to be had here.

The dollar day is being demonstrated throughout the United States by merchants who are alive to the need of the hour in clearing the stocks for the winter and the fall. Glendale is falling into line with the seasonal offering of its goods.

As the first big mid-summer offering, it comes particularly timely, since the hot weather now due will create a demand for the summer goods, bought for early consumption and held back in sale by the cool spring and early summer.

AMERICANS HELP SPIRITUAL LIFE OF FATHERLAND

Returning Thousands Help Set Alight the Evangelistic Fires

[By Associated Press]

STOCKHOLM, July 25.—Thousand of remote hamlets and towns in eastern and central Europe have experienced a spiritual rebirth under influence of Americans who have "returned" to their mother country, Dr. Charles Alvin Brooks, of New York, told the Baptist World Alliance. The past three years, he said, has witnessed the returned of thousands of members of these churches "to set alight the fires of a fresh evangelical movement in various parts of Europe."

After relating that more than 31,000 American Baptists use the German language in their worship, 29,000 the Swedish and almost 4,000 the Danish, Dr. Brooks stated that solidarity within the church must be experienced. "The sense of unity," he said, "cannot be achieved by studying a table of statistics. It must be felt. This thrilling sense of a common faith is born only out of fellowship. It comes through the experience of breaking the bread of life together, drinking together of one common spring and being baptized in the one common spirit."

Dr. Brooks called attention to the close relationship that exists between European and American Baptists. The living seed of America's spiritual and religious idealism was first generated in the soil of Europe, he said, but has passed from Europe to America and back again so that "it has enriched the life of America incalculably and in turn Europe has been enriched." Aid from the groups that have returned to the old world, he stated, have come some of our foremost missionaries, leading preachers, editors and other sound citizens.

BLACK EYES, SKINNED NOSE, PAYS FOR PILFERED CAT

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., July 25.—(United Press).—Argument over a cat, a common, ordinary every day cat, brought two full grown men into district court here recently and resulted in one being fined $20.

Jack Russell accused Robert Christie of stealing his cat. Christie denied the charge and said he'd give Russell a whole sack full of cats. But the offer did not satisfy Russell, who said he wanted his own particular cat, and the row was on.

During the altercation Christie obtained two black eyes, a twisted nose and a scalp wound, which were introduced as evidence at the trial.

BURGLAR'S FLASH ALARMS WOMAN

Two Other Homes in the City Are Entered by Thieves

Mrs. Minnie Ayres of 1121 South Central avenue, was awakened at an early hour Tuesday morning by a flash light that was held close to her face by an unknown person. As she awoke the flashlight was extinguished and a moment later the man who was operating it sprang from the window of her bedroom to the ground and disappeared in the darkness. No trace of the mysterious visitor has been found.

The home belonging to Mr. Weinuts, 502 California, was entered by thieves at about 9:15 o'clock Tuesday night. Nothing was taken.

Mr. St. Claire, 1250 South Maryland avenue, reports also that his home was broken into some time Monday night. Lieut. Royle has been detailed to this case.

SULPHUR IN WATER CAUSE OF ITS ODOR

So Declares City Health Physician, Doctor Kaemmerling

TEST IS PERFECT

City Practically Free of Disease He Declares on Survey

Dr. Gerhard Kaemmerling, Glendale's health commissioner, states that the city is comparatively free from communicable diseases. This morning a case of smallpox was discovered in one of the members of a grading camp who had come to Glendale from elsewhere. The patient and his camp mates will be quarantined a suitable length of time and vaccinated. It is the first case reported here in a long time.

There are still a few cases of diphtheria and scarlet fever and one case of measles. All of these sources of infection could be stamped out inside of one month, the doctor declares, if citizens would co-operate with his office and report them. "The erroneous impression prevails," said he, "that we will persecute them if we know of the presence of such disease, whereas we will do everything in our power to save the inconvenience of quarantine.

"The general health of the city is exceptionally good. The water is A-No.-1 except that the odor is bad at times for this season: One of our wells is pumping sulphur water, another well is pumping iron and the combination of iron and sulphur tends to the formation of certain vegetable matter in the water that is harmless. As far as the bacteria count is concerned, it is perfectly normal and we have high class water, and generally speaking the health of the community is A-1."

L. A. CANOES ARE NOW FOOLPROOF

ALASKA ANXIOUS TO SUPPLY STREAMS WITH TROUT EGGS

PORTLAND, Oregon, July 25.—(United Press).—All the trout eggs that the streams of the northwest may need during the coming years can be secured from Alaska, according to a report made by R. E. Clanton, former superintendent of state commercial fish hatcheries, following a six weeks' tour of the territory.

And what is more, the residents of Alaska will be glad to cooperate with sportsmen of the northwest in gathering the eggs and transporting them to the streams and lakes of Washington and Oregon, where the trout are a menace to the Alaskan salmon industry.

Clanton will return to Alaska in the fall to enlist help and perfect an organization to gather the Alaskan trout eggs and bring them to local waters.

THURSDAY IS DOLLAR DAY IN CITY

Every Dollar Will Work Until Nearly Night; Not Be Gone at Noon

BIG DOLLAR DEALS

Good Gifts for Good Glendale Dollars Going Homeward

By ALBERT MARPLE

Listen, folks, Thursday is Dollar Day.

To the one who does the buying for the family the very mention of "Dollar Day" brings visions of real, sure-enough bargains. The dollar days that have been held in Glendale in the past have resulted in actual saving of dollars to the families located here. There has been no "fluke" about these dollar days. The merchants of the city have not "palmed off" a lot of old, shop-worn merchandise on those attending the sales. They have given more than a dollar's worth for every dollar expended. They have endeavored conscientiously to offer to the people of Glendale bargains such as they have not been able to secure elsewhere. That they have succeeded is evidenced by the fact that in many of the homes of this city these dollar days have become a habit. The buyers of hundreds of domestic "corporations" within the limits of Glendale have come to look forward to them, realizing that each such occasion is sure to bring many things that have been marked away down, in many instances to a point little more than the merchant's purchase price.

The storekeepers of Glendale cannot afford to advertise as bargains merchandise that are not actual money savers. These merchants have a reputation to build and to sustain. The practice of the fly-by-night peddler is to sting whomever he can. He realizes he will never see these people again and therefore he determines to get as much out of them as possible on the first visit. But things are different with the local merchant. He is permanently located here, and only by fair dealing with the people of Glendale can he expect to remain in business in Glendale. These merchants realize this and if for no other than business reasons, they would not attempt such a thing. The standards of the merchants of Glendale are high. Nowhere can you find a better class of storekeepers. They have at heart the interests of the people of Glendale, as well as their own. They give fair treatment and naturally expect the same.

As has been the case on former occasions, this Dollar Day, Thursday, will afford real dollar saving opportunities to the people of Glendale. Every merchant will do his best to give unusual value for every dollar spent in his establishment, and he will stand back of every piece of goods taken from his store. Nothing could be fairer. All the merchants ask is a chance to "show" the housewives of this city. They know they can make good.

Years ago there was a little ditty entitled:

In years gone by your dollar bill
Stayed with you all the day,
But now it's in some other till
Ere noon has passed away.

There is a modern version, however, to this little ballet that has to do with the Dollar Days in Glendale. It reads something like this:

The days of high cost now are gone,
Your "buck" will larger grow,
If you will buy on Dollar Day
When things are marked down low.

DECLARES ARCTIC WASTES GOOD FLYING TERRAIN

BERGEN, July 25.—Giving his opinion regarding the Arctic as a flying terrain, Lieutenant Dietrichsen is quoted as follows by the Aftenposten:

"Once one has risen above the mountains, the mists vanish and weather conditions become extraordinarily even and free of wind pockets. The further north one proceeds the better becomes the possibilities of good and safe landing places among the vast flat tracts of ice and snowfields."

The lieutenant also expressed his firm conviction that the polar flight is only a matter of time.

Lieutenant Dietrichsen is one of the airmen sent up to Spitzbergen by the Norwegian government in connection with relief measures for Amundsen.

Glendale Art Folks to Picnic at Beach

August 25 is the date set for the picnic at Laguna, at which the Glendale Art Association has been invited to join with the art club of that beach city. Details of the program for this outing have not been worked out but it is safe to count on a good time. The last troops of the Verdugo Hills Scouts consisting of Scouts from La Crescenta, Tujunga and Eagle Rock, are now in camp for ten days at Camp Royl-Kent, near Lake Arrowhead. The trip to the camp was made on Saturday, July 21. They found an ideal spot in the big pines with streams of ice cold water and plenty of good eats. The troops in camp now consist of five boys from La Crescenta, three from Eagle Rock, two from Tujunga and four from Glendale, with Scout Executive Benner in charge, assisted by Mr. Westcott, Uncle Robert Taylor and A. Dr. Crawford gave an interesting talk to the boys at Saturday night's campfire and also conducted the Sunday morning services.

Mr. Westcott, assistant camp director has charge of the music and singing at the campfire and it has some "pep." Mr. Benner, chief Scout, told the boys a good story at Sunday night's campfire, about the mountain lions, keeping everyone in suspense to the last minute.

Monday the camp was visited by a light thunder shower, the first rain to fall since the camp was established. The boys had good shelter and took the rain as part of the game.

The week's program as planned includes swimming and boating at Lake Arrowhead, two days for tests, a treasure hunt and visit to the mine. All the boys are looking forward to a grand good time.

values are increasing faster than any other city in Southern California. The reason for this is that Glendale's population is increasing faster than any other city in Southern California. The value of real estate is not increasing any faster than it did twenty years ago, according to its growth in population.

Glendale has four business or public highways running directly through the city. There is just so much frontage on each of these highways. Each one is going to increase in value in proportion to its traffic.

STUDY SAN FERNANDO BOULEVARD

and you will see that the property has more than trebled in price in the past twelve months. Property is still exceedingly low, according to the growth and the traffic on this wonderful highway.

There are still a few good investments in good business sections on San Fernando Boulevard. If you are interested in a speculation wherein you will be able to secure good returns on your investment, see me in regard to San Fernando Boulevard property.

COMMUNITY SERVICE EXECUTIVES TO MEET

Members of the executive committee of Community Service have been asked to meet Tuesday noon for luncheon at the Glen Inn to discuss the putting on of a pageant this fall.

H. KEPLINGER IS FINAL VICTOR IN SUIT

Annexation Saves Life of Institution Protested by Eagle Rock

After occupying days and days in the superior court of Los Angeles, receiving a decision unfavorable to the defendant, and after making an appeal to the higher courts, the case of the City of Eagle Rock vs. H. Keplinger, proprietor of Sycamore Lodge Rest Home, an institution for the care of incompetents, located on East Sycamore, was won by the defendant through the intervention of annexation.

Those who were interested in following this case as it appeared from day to day on the calendar of the superior court heard with interest the decision handed down by the court, ruling that Keplinger's institution should be abandoned due to the fact that it was outside the prescribed zone. Following this decision, Keplinger appeared before Judge Cruzan, by whom the case was first heard, and at this time it was made known that he would appeal the case.

Discussion of the case locally revealed that opinions were about equally divided as to the final outcome, as the annexation election was pending, and no one ventured to state how the courts would act in the event Eagle Rock became a part of Los Angeles. When Eagle Rock did become a part of Los Angeles, it followed that the Eagle Rock hospital ordinance was null and void, and in as much as Keplinger is within his rights according to the Los Angeles ordinance, the case was dropped. Attorneys Rollin L. McNitt, representing the city of Eagle Rock and T. C. Gould, representing Keplinger, were asked to make stipulations of the case, after which it was stricken from the calendar.

The Los Angeles hospital and sanitarium ordinance requires that such an institution be located at a distance of 400 feet from a residence. Due to the fact that Keplinger's institution was located in Eagle Rock before this ordinance came into effect here, his institution is safe, according to attorneys.

SECOND INFORMAL DANCE AT CLUB ON TUESDAY

Everything Is Announced to Be in Readiness for Affair

Everything is in readiness for the second informal dancing party to be given at the Tuesday Afternoon Club ballroom Thursday evening under the social recreation division of Glendale Community Service. Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson is general chairman in charge of arrangements.

Dancing will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and will stop at 11:30. These hours have been set by the committee as a large number of those attending are people who are employed. Music will be furnished by the same five-piece orchestra that played at the dance given last month. The small fee of 25c per person will be made to cover the expenses of the orchestra.

From the number who have registered at Glendale Community Service headquarters at 130 South Brand boulevard for invitation cards to the dance there will be a very large attendance.

NUMEROUS GUESTS PRESENT AT BIG K. P. INITIATION

Glendale's lodge of the Knights of Pythias initiated six candidates into the rank of Knight at their regular meeting Tuesday evening in Castle Hall in the presence of about 200 witnesses, large delegations having come from lodges in Los Angeles, Hollywood, Pasadena, and Van Nuys.

The Glendale Knights have been doing some strenuous practicing in the work and put it on in a manner so fine that they were warmly complimented by their guests. Two of the men initiated were from Hollywood lodge.

A contest in this work is to be put on by Los Angeles county lodges in the near future and Glendale is believed to have an excellent prospect of winning.

Following the work a banquet was served at which a number of after dinner speeches were made. Joe Griffin, who was in attendance for the first time since his illness, responded to call, making an excellent talk, and a good speech was made by L. E. Hawkins of Hollywood, insurance superintendent of California.

Announcement was made of the dance to be given by La Halla Temple, Pythian Sisters, Thursday night in the K. of P. hall.

CALIFORNIA HAS NEW CROP IN SILK PRODUCT

NEW GLENDALE PRODUCT

Highly Recommended by one of our Glendale Boosters

Mr. Black of the Exide Service Station realizes that the automobile is not the only motive power that requires the proper mixture, and he is sure an expert in adjusting carburetor mixtures and ignition troubles. Here is what he has to say about our Glendale product—(Vegetone):

Glendale, Cal., 7-25-23.

Vegetone Co.,
Glendale, Cal.

Dear Sirs: Your preparation—"Vegetone," is certainly all you claim for it. Some time ago, I had a bad case of indigestion. Food felt like a lump of lead in my stomach. I felt unfit for work. A friend of mine recommended "Vegetone." He said it would get my stomach into action. It certainly did. I am in fine condition now. Your Glendale product is worthy of the highest recommendation.

Gratefully yours,
P. A. BLACK.
Care Exide Service Station.

For the short time that Vegetone has been on the market it has made a host of friends. Summer ailments like cramps and diarrhoea require "Vegetone" taken with hot water.

If you take castor oil follow it with "Vegetone." It quiets the stomach. Should you wish to take calomel—follow it with "Vegetone," it makes it safer.

Work it around your mouth before swallowing to prevent acid-mouth. After eating green apples use "Vegetone."

Pie, cake, cabbage are nothing to "Vegetone." Enjoy yourself. Eat and eat a plenty, if you have "Vegetone."

"Vegetone" contains no alcohol, or other habit forming drugs.

Building A Great Bigger
Los Angeles Industry

To meet the growing demand for its products, The IMPERIAL COTTON MILLS COMPANY of Los Angeles must double its present capacity.

The tremendous and immediate success of the first 20,000 spindle unit has proven Los Angeles to be the logical textile milling center of the West.

The Pacific Coast annually consumes over 150,000,000 yards of cotton cloths which are largely supplied from Eastern mills at high transportation cost. To serve this established market, IMPERIAL COTTON MILLS COMPANY is manufacturing, from Imperial and Salt River Valley cotton, staple cloths which defy competition both in quality and price.

The mill's entire output of 14,000,000 yards per annum is entirely sold in advance. Over 500 persons are employed, operating 20,000 spindles, with nearly 600 looms. Yet present machinery and equipment can produce but a small percentage of the goods required in this immediate territory.

In order to provide for the new buildings, new equipment and necessary working capital to double mill production, the Company is now offering a limited portion of its

8% Cumulative Preferred Stock

Price $100 per share. Fully Paid and Non-assessable. Participating up to 12% with the Common Stock. Convertible into Common Stock at $125.

On the basis of present earnings, annual net profits from doubled production are estimated at more than 2½ times the amount necessary for annual cash dividends of 12% on all outstanding Preferred and Common Stock.

EVERY SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA INVESTOR will want to share in the large and dependable profits of this great local industry. Over $500,000 of Preferred Stock has been sold during the last five days. It is important that you call—or send name and address at once—for complete information. No obligation on your part.

SANTA CLARA IS JUBILANT OVER NEW COACH

While students of the Long Beach Polytechnic high school are weeping and bewailing the loss of the most efficient coach to be procured for the school, the Santa Clara University students and alumni are wild with joy over the fact that Coach Kienholz of Long Beach has accepted the position as athletic coach for the university. Angelo Besselo, Jr., of Ellenwood drive, a graduate of Santa Clara, states that 100 alumni of the university will gather at the Athletic club, Los Angeles, Thursday night, to welcome Coach Arthur Kienholz to his new field of work.

Under the guidance of Arthur Kienholz, the Long Beach football team became nationally known, and captured the Southwest championship of the United States during the second year of Kienholz's coaching.

RECORD WHEAT CROPS IN THREE WESTERN STATES

PORTLAND, Ore., July 25.—(United Press.)—Records for past production are falling in the northwest as ranchers of Washington, Oregon and Idaho are harvesting the season's wheat crop. The 1923 output will exceed that of any previous year, it is assured.

Approximately 106,675,000 bushels of wheat will go into the granaries of the world from these three states. This output will be nearly 1,500,000 bushels greater than the 1921 crop, which was considered a freak output that would not soon be surpassed.

Light land sections of the northwest are coming forth with unusual yields. Fields which have hitherto been counted on for from 8 to 15 bushels per acre, this season are yielding as high as 10 bushels, with an average of 30. The northwest's heavy land districts are not exceeding their usual quota, but in practically every instance the normal crop is being harvested from this kind of soil.

The question of securing help to harvest the crop has been a big one, and labor conditions in certain sections have been worrying the ranchers, who have not been able to obtain the necessary number of workers.

U. OF C. EDITOR WARNS SUMMER STUDENTS

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Berkeley, July 25 (United Press.)—In an editorial warning to summer session students, the Summer Session Californian tells the tale of country amateur professors flipping pennies and the fable of how they were skinned by a "slick" city feller. The city feller being a reporter on the Cal.

"The reporter's baby needed new shoes; the supply of bacon at home was exhausted. These conditions no longer obtain."

The warning, it may be added, was issued not for those who had played and learned their lesson, but for others who might think a game of chance inviting. You can't win.

WOLVERINES DIE OF PORCUPINES

[By Associated Press]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—The Sierra Nevada wolverine, known as "the glutton of America," and famed for his fierce and bloodthirsty disposition, is making his last stand in the high Sierras, according to Walter Fry, head of the nature guide service, Sequoia national park, California. The wolverine, Mr. Fry says, is being killed off by man, his natural enemy, and by his own gluttonous habit of killing and eating the porcupine. The latter's quills puncture the wolverine's intestines, causing him a death of agony in from seven to ten days.

ANGEL ISLAND HANDLING MANY IMMIGRANTS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—(United Press).—With accommodations for 100 immigrants, Angel Island is taking care of more than 300, with the number fluctuating daily, but showing an unhappy tendency to grow. Commissioner John D. Nagle has appealed to Washington for instructions on where to park the newcomers, who now fill the hospital, the office rooms, the U. S. Health Service rooms, the quarantine station and all available room at West Barracks and Fort McDowell.

Another grief has been the holding up and possible deportation of a number of Australian and New Zealand immigrants. They are regarded as desirable, but the quotas been filled, so methods are being hunted up to get them in.

TARGET SHATTERED BY GUARD MARKSMEN

ALBANY, Oregon, July 25 (United Press).—Wild firing by members of the Albany coast artillery company shattered a target at Fort Barry, where the guardsmen recently were in training, according to a bill for $100 just received.

The outfit is not anxious to give up the $100 from the company mess fund, and has sent the bill on to Washington, hoping the war department will settle the account.

TAKES WEALTH FROM INMATES OF JAIL

FRESNO, July 25 (United Press)—Prisoners in the Madera county jail claim incarceration there added insult to injury, for being "inside looking out" was no protection from theft. Money from the prisoners' clothes constantly disappeared. Officers finally arrested Johnny Woo, 11-year-old Chinese, and accused him with taking the inmates' cash when he took them their meals. The jailers say he hovered around the cells and went through all unguarded clothing.

BAPTISTS CLAIM UNIVERSAL PEACE AWAITS GOSPEL

Stockholm Meeting Discusses Peace and League of Nations

[By Associated Press]

STOCKHOLM, July 25. — Although favoring the League of Nations as a vital step in the prevention of war, that day of universal peace dreamed of by the Bible prophets will not come until the gospel of Jesus Christ has been proclaimed to all the world and men have been made new creatures through its regenerating power, Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas, Texas, declared in the course of the official congress sermon which he delivered. Dr. Truett is considered one of the foremost pulpit orators of the Baptist faith.

After reciting the troublous times through which the world has passed since the last previous session of the Alliance was held in Philadelphia in 1911, and how that statesmen, economists and philosopher had sought in vain to find a solution of the world's difficulties, Dr. Truett said the Baptists had an adequate message for mankind at this hour in the Gospel of Christ and declared that if the Baptists and other Christians of the world would but devote their energies and resources to the propagation of the gospel the time would soon come when the name of Christ would be proclaimed in every dialect on the globe.

Dr. Truett said in part:

"We long for enduring peace and for wars to cease unto the ends of the earth. It is most inspiring to think of that prophetic day when men shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks, and when nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more. But when did the prophet say such halcyon day would come? Not when enemies are crushed on the battlefield, but when all nations shall walk in God's paths. The most vital matter therefore in the world is for Christ's friends to lay their every power under tribute to preach Christ's gospel to every creature and to call all nations to walk in His paths. Our work shall never be done until at the name of Jesus every knee shall bow and every tongue confess that He is Lord to the glory of God the Father. We must rest not and halt not until we write His name large across the sky of the whole world, and make His voice the deep undertone of all human life, and supply His principles to the solution of every problem in the world. When will Pentecost be repeated? It will be repeated when Christ's people undertake Pentecostal tasks in the old-time Pentecostal power.

"We need no new gospel to win the world. The way of the cross is ever the way of triumph both for Christ and for His people. The tragedy of the world is not poor wages, nor bad legislation, nor ignorance, nor poverty. The supreme tragedy of the world is sin. There is only one adequate remedy for sin and that remedy is found in the cross of Christ. That cross is the sign manual in the redemption of mankind. It is the central fact toward which all previous history converges and all subsequent history diverges, with its crimson tide forever. All the light of sacred story gathers about that cross. Redemption is there and not elsewhere. The salvation of men is not to be found in creeds and ceremonies and rituals and sacraments and forms of righteousness which men perform, but it is to be found in Christ, the one mediator between God and man. Let Christianity be reduced to a mere ethic and you would immediately fling away its redeeming power. All such gospels are utterly bankrupt of the power necessary to regenerate and redeem a sinful world.

"The one hope of the world lies in the reign of Christ. There are many occasions of division and rivalry among the nations. We do not disparage the work of the diplomatists and statesmen, but the redemption of the world does not lie in that direction. The world's hope lies in the saviorhood and lordship of Christ. He is not going to divide the world with Mohammedanism and Buddhism and Confucianism or any other ism that opposes Christ. His dominion shall extend over every acre of the earth.

"The crowning glory of Christ's gospel is that it may be fully tested and proved in the crucible of human experience. Christ submits himself to the scientific test of demonstration by experiment. Men may call on Mohammed or Confucious or Buddha and they will get no answer. Let them call upon Christ and they will be forgiven of sin and clothed with moral re-enforcement for the battles and burdens of life. Destructive criticism cannot finally shake our confidence in the Bible, because in that God-given book we find revealed our own experience. It is God's mirror reflecting the spiritual image of every image of every one who looks into it.

"With our more than eleven million Baptists we may quickly fill the whole earth with the knowledge of Christ if we will only be faithful to him. The world can be saved only by the Gospel of Christ. Society is to be transformed by transforming its individual units. It is not a new system of govern ment that mankind needs, nor a new scheme for the distribution of wealth, nor a new social organization. It is the new birth men need and then all secondary needs will follow in proper perspective and proportion.

'Stupendous days and demands now confront us. Will we tread the path of the cross, abjuring all selfish ease and giving our best for Him? It is an hour for our rededication as preachers to the faithful preaching of this dynamic and divine Gospel. It is an hour when parents should bring their children with delight and joyfully give them to His service. It is an hour when every talent of learning, of wealth, of piety, of prayer should be laid on the altar for the winning of the world to Christ. The open door of the ages is before us. The whole world invites and challenges immediate occupation for Christ. Facilities a thousand fold opportunities. Autocracy must go, both in church and in state. Sacramentalism and sacerdotalism must likewise go—they are the grave clothes of a moribund and decadent faith. The day of the inalienable rights and worth of the individual is everywhere coming to the fore. Christ's people are to cast up the highway for the spread of His gospel everywhere. If they will only be true to their privileges and resources, the name of Jesus will soon be echoed in every dialect under heaven."

SCOTTY BUILDS DESERT "HOME"

TONOPAH, Nevada, July 25.—Walter Scott, better known as 'Death Valley Scotty,' is constructing a $150,000 concrete building in a canyon in Death Valley. The purpose for which the building is erected in the isolated region of the desert is unknown and Scott's answer to questions are: "I'm putting up a girl's academy," or "I'm building a home for wornout newspaper men."

Nothing but the finest material is being used in the building, the lumber for which is being shipped from Portland, Oregon, to San Pedro, California, and then sent to Death Valley by train, truck and tractor. In addition to the large building, the windows of which are protected by heavy steel bars, there are several smaller buildings being erected by Scott.

It is believed here that Scott's millionaire Chicago friend, a Mr. Johnson, is backing him for the purpose of establishing a college for boys, similar to that maintained by L. L. Nunn of Colorado at Deep Springs, on the Nevada-California border in Inyo county, California.

NOT SO BAD

Memory goes easily back to the days of the populists, born of despair and nurtured on pessimism. They thought, economically speaking, that the end of all things was at hand. Some of the more ardent believed that by hanging the J. P. Morgan of the day, along with Jay Gould and the fellow conspirators of the twain, and razing the iniquitous structures of Wall street, vanished prosperity might be recalled, and once more smile upon the land. In fact, they talked much as the Magnus Johnsons of the present are talking. They did not do any of the things they had contemplated most noisily. Some of their milder ideas have since crystalized into legislation, and have general approval. Their wild schemes came to nothing, serving no purpose save to allow them to blow off steam.

The outlook at that time was dark. It was not a group that was suffering, but a vast stagnation lay over the whole country. There was no market for products, no demand for labor. But all this passed away. The adjustment came about by natural processes, just as it will come again. The country as a whole is prosperous now. More people are making money than ever before. There is a temporary disarrangement, a confusion of values. The marvel is not that this should be so, but that it should not be much worse.

Populists were controlled for the nonce by their emotions. They did not stop to reason. So it is with the followers of Magnus Johnson or the more dangerous, because more diplomatic, Brookhart. In elevating these men to office they have expressed their discontent, knowing no other method of expressing it. The few populists who were elected to office at once seemed to feel the responsibility. With a unanimity that surprised and pleased, they refrained from making fools of themselves. One of the most sonorous and resounding populists that ever flourished a threatening tongue went to the state of Washington, carrying his beliefs with him. He was elected governor by the populists, aided by democrats who were ready to do anything to defeat the republicans, normally in the majority there. He served a term of four years, carefully, zealously and efficiently. He was re-elected, this time thousands of republicans voting for him, and he died in office, respected and honored.

The incident shows that the situation is far less desperate than extremists paint it. It shows also that as to the discontented, no matter how poignant his howl, his bark is far worse than his bite.

COMPETING CITIES

The staid and always proper Portland Oregonian has opened editorial guns on Seattle. The first broadside is marked "No. 1," so that the battle may be regarded as only started. To what extent Seattle will wither in the blast may be left to conjecture. The Oregonian declares that there is something the matter with Seattle. The Puget Sound metropolis is in trouble. The critic lays this largely to lack of leadership. Not only do the residents of Seattle decline to stand together, but they will not even divide squarely on any issue. The result is that they are resolved into groups and cliques, and that nothing is accomplished. Formerly there were big men in Seattle, and they did things on a large scale. "Seattle spirit" was heralded as a potent force, and lived up to its reputation. No longer are the big men in evidence. The Oregonian thinks the town has gone to the bow-wows. Certain it is that Seattle has lost its former grip. The enthusiasm that elevated it to metropolitan size on the basis of the Alaska excitement of years ago, has vanished. It now lacks the stability of Portland, and it is being gained upon by Tacoma.

Perhaps it would be better were the cities of the northwest to regard themselves not as rivals but as elements in the growth of a vast community. Portland and Seattle seem to view one another in much the same light as San Francisco and Los Angeles did before they had become wiser. Each of the California cities seems to have reached the conclusion that there is plenty of room for both, and that more is to be accomplished by co-operation than by enmity. However, if the Oregonian can arouse the dormant life of Seattle by calling attention to benumbing characteristics that impede development, the city rebuked ought to be grateful.

It is stated on high authority: "Faithful are the wounds of a friend."

THE NEW ITALY

A citizen long identified with large business affairs in California, although a native of Italy, has just returned from that country. The account he brings of conditions there tallies well with the general impression of what Mussolini had accomplished. The visitor, Segundo Guasti, speaks of an Italy as having evolved in less than two years "from a state of chaotic turbulence into a land of happy and settled occupation." Considering everything, emergence from a great war, the loss of thousands of producing units, this remarkable achievement falls little short of the miraculous. It demonstrates more forcibly than anything else that comes to mind, the value of leadership. Mussolini, whatever his failings, is a natural leader. He has the ability to guide the multitude by causing it to accept his conclusions as wise. People have no tendency to rebel against what seems to be an arbitrary power, for they realize that it operates for their benefit.

It is quite beyond the range of probability that Mussolini should make no mistakes. What seems to have been one has been mentioned in these columns. He has placed such restrictions on the press as never could be tolerated in this country. From an American angle of view they would appear not only unjust but impossible of enforcement. But the rule is for Italy. It may not excite such active disfavor there as a similar rule inevitably would do here.

But beyond and above any error, the fact stands out clearly that Mussolini has wrought a great work for Italy, has won the devotion of Italians at home and abroad, and, as well, the admiring respect of the world.

University women from all over the United States have been holding a convention at Portland. These are practical women active in business and professional life, many of them engaged as educators. They declared in favor of some arrangement embodying the principle of the League of Nations; for they are not politicians, and when they believe a thing to be right, are not afraid so to affirm.

The plan of curtailing the output of oil, on the ground that there were not sufficient storage facilities, did not strike the consuming public as being to its interests. The public therefore is glad to learn that the necessary tanks are to be provided and production continue unhampered.

MAKING CONVERSATION

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Most people after they pass the pinfeather stage of development feel that making conversation is a distinct bore.

But feeling that a thing is a bore and giving it up are two different matters; and so those who are under a strain every moment of the business day are still further strained by the necessity, made by casual acquaintances, of having to either listen to or reply to made conversation, whenever the jungle of city life throws two and two together.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

As long as women gossip over the back fence, made conversation does no harm. Women in such circumstances are not conversing anyway; they are getting through time and exercising their voices. As a rule both are fond of talking and neither expects a reply. The sight of a presumptive listener satisfies the woman who has the floor—or rather the air—and her feelings are in no way injured if her victim thinks about something else.

But made conversation in roaring street cars, in crowded stores, in the waits between acts in theaters when the orchestra is making a melodious din, is an acute affliction which the sins of the average man or woman do not seem sufficiently heinous to justify. But the average man or woman has to endure it because his average neighbor feels that made conversation is incumbent on well bred people. The casual acquaintance who sits next you on the car and talks continuously all the time he is there may not have met you more than twice in all his life; he may not be destined to cross your path again in a decade. He may not know one of your friends, share any of your views, vote your political ticket, hold your religious faith or even agree with your taste in foods and drinks; still he feels a cad if he does not chatter continuously during the ride and so force you to strain your ears and your attention in an effort to hear what he says, when the Lord knows all you want is that he shall cease to say it, whatever it is.

Why are we all so afraid of silence? We shun it as if it were a menace to life and limb. We feel strange and neglected when we chance on somebody who keeps still until he has something to say; and from this peculiar attitude the chatter box takes heart of hope and feels that he is entertaining when he is merely stealing time and wasting energy.

Restful silence in the company of a friend is one of the choicest blessings that is given to man. An increasing number of thinking people now fall silent among their friends, speaking only occasionally or when something of worth or interest presents itself for discussion. The unthinking chatter and so come to be shunned by those they are trying to entertain.

Recently I rode all day in an automobile with a woman who talked endlessly, scarcely pausing to take breath. Mostly her conversation was a series of exclamations or denunciations. True, she was denouncing things that should be corrected; the point is that waste of breath and a flow of words have no curative value. But they have a disintegrating value; they destroy repose and dissipate energy.

Let's get rid of made conversation. It is nothing but a manifestation of slavery to convention.

THE RIGHT WORD

MAKING THE GRADE

(Find the error in this article)

There are some who run upstairs two steps at a time. He is the exception who goes up three at a time, and he does it infrequently. Most of us are in the habit of climbing step by step. It is the standard way of reaching one's destination.

If one goes uptown by automobile, he cannot reach Seventy-second street without passing Forty-third, Forty-fourth, and so on. And if one uses an airplane, one must know how to drive the plane before making the attempt. Even then there is a limit to the speed that can be attained and unit after unit of distance must be traversed.

There are some who learn at a walk, some who learn at automobile speed, some at airplane speed; but whatever the speed and directness attained, it is true that the goal is reached progressively.

Therefore, it should be remembered that the writing and speaking of good English cannot be accomplished in a day. The main thing is to make the start. Then if one will preserve, even though one may travel the road of learning more slowly than others, the goal will be reached.

Yesterday's Error

Wrong: Concrete examples should learn you when it is proper to say "me."

Right: Concrete examples should teach you when it is proper to say "me."

Vocabulary

Sedulous means constant in application or attention; diligent in the pursuit of any object or business; persevering in effort or endeavor; assiduous; as, a sedulous worker.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

It is sometimes well to have lived for a reasonably long time.

To bridge two generations, so to speak.

Because we have the experience of bygone years to direct us.

JAMES W. FOLEY

And comparisons are often useful.

And reassuring.

We hear a good deal of complaint as to the financial state of the farmer and the stock raiser.

And the complaint is not without justification.

For the farmer and the stock raiser are the most important people in the world.

For they supply our food.

So it would be a very lamentable thing if they were to go out of business.

For if they did the rest of us would go hungry.

And hunger is not an agreeable state of being.

Revolutions have had their basis in hunger.

The French revolution arose out of hunger.

And if there is a German revolution, it will arise out of hunger.

Because no government can survive when its people are hungry.

Any condition is better than hunger.

And hunger brings desperation.

A willingness to tear down palaces.

Behead rulers.

A low price for agricultural products is by no means a new thing.

Thirty years ago, or thereabout, wheat was down to forty cents a bushel.

The price of cattle was so low as hardly to make it worth while to ship them to market.

Sheep would not begin to pay the freight on them to the markets.

The United States was full of idle men.

Coxey's army set out for Washington.

To camp on the capital grounds.

As a protest against unemployment.

There was a general railroad strike.

And it was said that the government could not much longer endure.

* * *

Yet here we are thirty years afterward.

With a pretty stable government.

La Follette was complaining thirty years ago that the country had fallen into the hands of the money kings.

He is making the same complaint today—thirty years later.

The populists were in power in a number of granger states.

Their party has disappeared.

Bryan was talking free silver as a remedy for our ills.

The demagogues and noise makers and greenbackers and others were offering nostrums for the cure of economic ills.

Just as nostrums are being offered today.

By many of the same nostrum makers.

* * *

But conditions of thirty years ago gradually readjusted themselves.

Prices went back to something like normal.

The unemployed went back to work.

The farmer prospered.

All by a very natural process.

* * *

When we consider the destruction and waste of a great war, the wonder is that the conditions are as good as they are.

And the country will not be destroyed.

For we have weathered fiercer storms.

And found safe harbor.

As we shall do again.

Songs of the Poets

To A Little Girl—By Gustav Kobbe

Her eyes are like forget-me-nots,
So loving, kind and true;
Her lips are like a pink sea-shell
Just as the sun shines through.

Her hair is like the waving grain
In summer's golden light;
And, best of all, her little soul
Is, like the lily, white.

PROFESSIONALISMS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

I DON'T like a typical Englishman of a typical Scotchman, or a typical German, or a typical Church Member, or a typical Literary Man, or a typical Musician, or a typical Anythingarian. I like a Man.

I don't like a typical Lady, or Servant, or Club Woman, or Blue Stocking, or Working Woman, or Society Favorite. I like a Woman.

I loathe, abhor and abominate all stamps, dies, patterns, and artificial shapes impressed upon a human being.

All professionalism, ecclesiasticism, all mannerisms and affectations, all uniforms, cocked hats and badges, all classes, cliques, select circles and respectabilities that aim to substitute some artificiality for the Individual, are not for me. I will take just plain Folks.

There was never anything made or discovered in the way of excellencies, magnificenses, dukes, lords and ladies, that is so good as a plain untrimmed, and unplumed Man — except of course, a Woman.

Of course, certain exclusions and professionalisms are practically necessary. I should think, for instance, that for a King these are lifesavers. If he were not hedged about by a sort of divinity and plenty of horse-guards the crowd would probably trample him to death.

I understand that a Billionaire must have his secretaries, and first, second and third assistant secretaries weed out the applicants that come to his door, else he would not have a moment of time to eat his lunch or smoke his pipe. And if he listened to every petition that was made to him, his money would doubtless be all gone within a week.

Exclusions, therefore, as labor-saving devices doubtless have their place; but one who has to have them is to be pitied and not envied. Nothing can make me believe that it is not more fun to go into a restaurant, eat your meal and receive no attention except that which you pay for to the waiter, than it is to have somebody blow a horn and the crowd stand back and everybody rise and look solemn while you sit down and consume your food; or still worse, have your bacon and eggs brought to you by three uniformed jailers as you sit in your private cubby-hole somewhere in a marble palace.

I think if a King, or even a College President or a Millionaire, and I were to get off by ourselves incognito somewhere where I did not know he was Somebody and he did not know I was Nobody, and could go in swimming together, and lie on the beach and dig our toes in the sand, and swap yarns, and be Human, in the center of sky and ocean and earth and the high clouds we should like each other quite well. As it is there are thick walls between us, frowning with guns of hereditary fear, and manned with determined Ghosts.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

FORD A SPECIALIST

[Worcester Telegram]

Charles D. Hilles, republican national committeeman from New York state, believes that the Ford movement can no longer be taken as a joke. "Ford," he says, "does not strike any note in consonance with contemporary liberalism. He is not a protestant against majority unwisdom, nor is he a chronic minoritarian. He has shown amazing ignorance of national psychology and political problems. His attitude toward public affairs is un-American."

All of which is true, yet it does not alter the fact that there are thousands of Americans who believe that somehow, in some way, this wizard of the automobile industry could wave a wand from the White House, and immediately everyone would have a fat, easy job, a good home and an automobile.

Mr. Ford is a mechanical genius. He had the great good fortune to be on the ground when America was demanding a cheap automobile. He got there first with the most and cheapest automobiles, perfected his selling and mechanical forces and became the richest man in the world.

Jack Dempsey is as supreme in his line as Ford is in his, yet no one has boomed the heavyweight champion for president. Babe Ruth is an outstanding figure in the baseball world, and Sinclair Lewis the best selling champion. Each does his specialty well, and each makes big money.

That is everything that can be said for Mr. Ford—he does his specialty well and makes big money.

If these are qualifications for the presidency the woods are full of men at least as well equipped for the job as Ford.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Only a few years ago an architect said that he could with perfect safety erect a building of twenty-three stories. He was laughed at of course, but most scornfully by fellow architects. They explained why such a structure must fall after a short term of years. Now a building twice twenty-three stories is not an uncommon spectacle. In New York many buildings of more than twenty stories have been razed to make room for higher ones.

HENRY JAMES

William Holabird was the name of the architect whose faith changed the whole system of urban construction; a modest man just called to rest from his labors, leaving as a monument every building erected on the steel frame plan.

After a Los Angeles policeman has completed his round of duty, he doffs his uniform and appears in the pulpit as an evangelist. This is an unusual combination of callings. The chances are that the evangelist is a good policeman.

Displaying as singular a contrast as a policeman in the role of evangelist, is Jeffries, once heavyweight champion of the world, on the lecture platform explaining the Bible as the great book has appealed to him. He will draw a different sort of crowd in his new field.

No rejuvenation specialist ever could have the nerve to essay his system for the benefit of Romulu Delsi of Santa Ana, aged 88. He has just become the father of a little girl. If his count is correct this is the forty-fifth time the doctor has remarked "It's a girl" or "It's a boy." The remark must be getting a little monotonous.

The father of forty-five has done much for the world. Whether this has been of good or of evil depends. It is a considerable responsibility, but the hale Delsi, pitching hay, does not seem to worry much.

William Hart appeared among other film actors on a recent public occasion, and got a most hearty reception. "Bill," as he is known to the multitude, has the respect of a vast following, as one of the upstanding and clean men of the screen. There had been recent attempts to besmirch his character, but they were not of the slightest avail.

Much San Francisco money is coming to southern California for investment. It would have come sooner had San Franciscans realized earlier, the opportunities that awaited them. Now the change of opinion is taking on a new aspect, for many San Franciscans are arranging to build homes for themselves in Los Angeles. Well, they had laughed at Los Angeles for a long time.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

SELLING EDUCATION

A forced sale is no good. The customer bears a grudge toward the salesman who took him at a disadvantage, over-persuaded him or outwitted him. He will not come back to that market if he can help himself. He will seek another.

That's the big difference between teaching and selling one's wares in the business field. Grown-ups express their disgust and annoyance by cutting the salesman, but the children must bear with whatever is given them, first because they cannot judge its value correctly, then because they are so inarticulate naturally, then because they are under subjection. What would happen if they could judge, could speak, could throw off the hand of authority? Some of us would be looking for another field of activity.

Take the sort of teacher who says, "Your son is lazy. He does not want to work. I told him to study three of Browning's shorter poems and he knew nothing about them when he came into class."

"He is a lazy-minded child when poetry is the subject," said his mother gently. "But he says he doesn't understand the stuff."

"He doesn't try to understand it!" said the teacher with sharp decision. "Other children do it. Why can't he? Lazy, that's all."

He was not lazy. He told the truth when he said he did not understand. He read, "What so false as truth is, False to thee?"

"Now what does that mean? It's beyond me." And it was. The idea had to be explained and illustrated and worked over and over. The boy was impatient with the whole idea of poetry and decided that poets were silly folk who twisted simple ideas into puzzles by using "words to make it harder."

But when we turned to "Well, now, look at our villa! stuck like the horn of a bull, just on a mountain edge, as bare as the creature's skull," he laughed in glee.

"He must have lived in one! It's just like ours in the mountains. 'Stuck like the horn of a bull.' That's all right. He knew what living in the mountains meant. 'Stuck like the horn of a bull.' If it was only all pictures like that!"

The teacher had failed to "sell" Browning to the lad. He had made up his mind that a man who spilled words all over a page just to make a fellow guess himself into a headache was not worth the trouble. Now he hunts for the word pictures the great poet painted. He is beginning to catch the music of his songs. Years from now he will get the inwardness of them. Not now.

But was the teacher of English disturbed by the fact that she had not succeeded in capturing the boy? Yes, she was. He was lazy! He got bad marks. His disposition was irritating. He really ought to be in a class with children who were not as bright as those he was studying with. His English achievement test would indicate that.

But to feel that a part of the failure was hers? Not at all. Lazy boy. Put him out!

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

The Dolliver's have just got back from what they call a pleasure tour. They have visited half a dozen foreign countries and have brought back memories of inconveniences, extortions, outrages, and over-charges.

"Then you didn't have a good time?" I said.

"We," said the Dolliver's with joined voices, "had a perfectly terrible time."

They always do, somehow. They are the sort of people who always manage to get in their own way. Every Dolliver has a pet prejudice to pleasure the others. One Dolliver refused to visit Germany.

"I'll just spend my time fighting with the Germans," said he.

Eventually he accompanied the Dollivers to Germany, but he made good his threat. He fought 'em. The Dolliver with an anti-French complex got into a desperate battle with the French customs authorities. He told 'em that we saved their dinky little old country, and a number of other unpleasant things. He almost got in jail. The charge against this Dolliver seems to have been rudeness.

No Dolliver remembered the beauties of London, but each repined bitterly because the English do not use salt in cooking. The architectural gems of France did not exist, so far as they were concerned. They recalled a certain snippiness of the taxi chauffeurs and the food was disguised, they said, with sauces. The only pleasant evening they spent in Rome was with Americans who joined them in decrying Italian customs.

"What's the use of going abroad?" I asked. "You always make the same report, and this is your fourth trip."

"Well," said the Dollivers, with conviction, "you gotta do it. You gotta broaden your mind."

OPERA FIGHTS THE ONION TO RULE IN COVENT GARDENS

LONDON, July 25.—(Associated Press.)—Shall it be "opera" or "onions" is the question agitating holders of business premises in Covent Garden Market. Business has grown to such an extent of late that dealers allege the Opera House, which is admittedly old and decaying, shold be demolished and the site utilized for an extension of the congested market.

While people complain they cannot get to the opera with their motorcars because the market wagons block the way, fruit and vegetable merchants assert that a food market is more important to the general public than "Faust" or "Tannhauser."

RATES FOR ROTARIANS

MEXICO CITY, Mex. (By mail to the United Press).—The national railway lines of Mexico will grant liberal rates as an inducement for Rotarians to hold their international convention in this city next year. Toronto and Mexico City are after the convention.

HOW LLOYD "COUED" TO "SAFETY LAST"

"Day by day in every way I'm getting braver and braver!"

That is what Harold Lloyd repeated to himself during the filming of his latest feature comedy, "Safety Last," now at the Gateway theatre. For Harold figured out that if Dr. Coue had any luck with his "better and better" theory, he ought to have luck with his own version—"braver and braver"—which was certainly a necessity.

When "Safety Last" was selected as Lloyd's next Pathe starring vehicle, it was determined to make it a "thrill" picture—but a "thrill" picture that would even surpass "High and Dizzy," "Now or Never" and "Never Weaken," three of his shorter comedies. In the action of "Safety Last" Harold climbs the side of a skyscraper, and to do this and not bring a serious injury to himself, the comedian put his new version of Dr. Coue's theory into practice.

Lloyd figured that anyone can walk across a board when it is on the ground, or when it is raised a few feet. But place this board across an areaway 12 stories or so from the ground and the feat would be almost impossible. To overcome this, Lloyd practiced for a number of weeks, each time having the board raised higher and insisting to himself that "day by day he was becoming braver and braver."

VITAL INTEREST IN GLENDALE PHARMACY SALE

The Glendale Pharmacy, corner Glendale avenue and East Broadway, has a special sale on this week which should be of vital interest to all. The advertisement appearing in Mondsy's Daily Press gave a partial list of the many things on sale at a big reduction. The same advertisement will appear again today and Friday. Watch for it.

Charles Stuart, the genial proprietor, has determined to keep his store in the front rank by giving his patrons special offerings which will be worth while, and judging from his everyday low prices, these special sales will be great money savers. He carries a most complete line of drugs and sundries and his service is the best.

MILLION POUNDS FOR PALESTINE

NEW YORK, July 25.—(United Press.)—A large delegation of Hebrews are en route for Carlsbad, where the World Zionist conference will meet August 6. One of the features of the congress, it is announced here, will be the report that one million pounds has been received from Jews all over the world for the Palestine foundation fund. It is stated that of this amount, over 60 per cent has been contributed by American Jews.

VAUDEVILLE AT THE T. D. & L. THEATER TONIGHT

The first of the double weekly bills of vaudeville will be given tonight at the T. D. & L. in combination with the film, "Her Accidental Husband." The vaudeville is all of the better class of the Pantages and Orpheum circuits that have made such success at the playhouse on Thursday night.

Those who miss this performance tonight can still get vaudeville tomorrow night at the T. D. & L. Those who visit the theater tonight will get a change of the bill tomorrow night.

One of the most encouraging signs, from the photoplay patrons' standpoint, of the desire on the part of motion picture producers to invest pictures with the highest quality possible, is to be found in the increasing use of "all star" casts.

An instance in point is "Her Accidental Husband," the six-reel drama which is at the T. D. & L. theater. In assembling the players in this production, care was taken to enlist the services of stars whose work has gained them reputation for meritorious work.

It's the woman who buys her complexion that worries most about it.

AIR ROUTES SOON TO ENCIRCLE THE WHOLE WORLD

LONDON, July 25.—(Associated Press).—A most interesting and instructive paper was read before the International Air Congress, recently in session in London, by Brigadier-General F. H. Williamson, director of postal services of the British government.

General Williamson predicted that the United States, Canada, the West Indies and other parts of the North American continent would soon be linked up by air with Great Britain. Connecting air lines would also run to Egypt, India, the straits settlements, Australia, New Zealand and Africa. "It is not rash to predict," said he, "that the next generation will see its railways and its steamships supplemented by a complete system of communication by air."

General Williamson said the Cairo-Bagdad air mail service, now in operation, saved 20 days over the old land route which ran via Bombay, Karachi and the Persian gulf. The mail planes covered the 850 miles in a single day.

Discussing the future of mail transport by air, the speaker said that the conveyance of the whole of the mails by air was an unlikely development unless and until there is a very marked change in the cost of air transport, and in the financial limitations under which postal services are compelled to work, limitations which require some sort of proportion between the postage charged and the cost of transport."

"Moreover," the general added, "an essential condition of mail service is regularity under all conditions, in all weathers, and at all times of the year. It is commonly assumed that if a method of transporting mails can be devised which is considerably more rapid, even if more expensive, than anything already in existance, there is an immediate public demand that it be used for the carriage of mails. There is, of course, some truth in this; but the experience of the postoffice indicates that the importance attached to the mere speed of mail communication can easily be exaggerated.

"It is probable, therefore, that for a long time to come air mails must be limited to urgent correspondence on which a special fee is charged, and that such correspondence will only be a relatively small fraction of the total mail. The actual volume of air mail carried will depend on three factors, regularity, gain in time, and cost of conveyance; that is, exactly the same conditions as those on which the development of passenger and goods traffic will depend, and to which the technical development of commercial aviation must be directed."

"YOUR FRIEND AND MINE" NEARS CLOSE

A "steam screen," declared to be not only the last word but the last syllable in photographic effects, is a feature in a big scene in "Your Friend and Mine," by Willard Mack, a Metro SL (Sawyer-Lubin) production directed by Clarence G. Badger, now at the Glendale theater.

The occasion in the picture was furnished by an entertainment in an artist's studio, showing East Indian magic, classical and allegorical costume dances, tableaux vivants, and other novelties. A fire screen closed a devil dance given by Fred Ko'Vert, a solid sheet of flame covering the entire stage in the studio as Mr. Ko'Vert ended his weird performance.

Then came the steam screen. The number was "A Dance of the Winds," interpreted by three of Mr. Ko'Vert's fair pupils. The velvet curtains were drawn apart, showing the audience a wall of steam emanating from the floor immediately behind the footlights, and preventing a view of the rear of the stage. Then, slowly, as if were drawn up by invisible cords, the curtain of steam rose evenly toward the ceiling and evaporated, revealing the dancers. As they went through their spirit movements, it seemed truly like a dance-of-the-winds dispelling the clouds.

"Your Friend and Mine" was adapted for the screen by Winifred Dunn. Included in the cast are Enid Bennett, Willard Mack, Rosemary Theby, J. Herbert Frank and Aileen Ray.

FIND CAUSE OF 20 YEAR SLEEP

[By Associated Press]

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., July 25.—Rip Van Winkle and his dog, Hendrik Hudson and the spirit crew of the Half Moon, seem to be alive once more, bowling on the green just as Washington Irving depicted them a century and a half ago. Now, however, there are no dwarfs pushing kegs up the mountain side to refresh the bowlers, and the scene of the play is some three thousand miles from the stormy Catskills.

If you go out to Golden aGte park, San Francisco, on a sunny afternoon, you will see them there, these quiet old gentlemen, Dutchmen they seem, and descendants of the great explorer, rolling wooden balls on a greensward as smooth as a ballroom floor.

And as you watch their slow and contemplative motion and inhale the vagrant drowsiness of the air you must agree that, if bowling on the green in the old days resembled the present, Rip must have had a very good reason, besides the keg, for falling into a 20 years' sleep.

A SAVAGE TIRE "AD"—WITH COMMENTS No. 10 OF A SERIES

Tones in advertising! Have you ever noticed them? There's the loud, harsh tone of the frantic advertiser who claims to have The Best Thing on Earth, the Finest Thing in the World, and so forth. There's the soft, subdued tone of the dignified advertiser who reminds you only of his name and his place of business. Between these two extremes are, naturally, many variations. The tone that appeals to us and the one that we try to follow is a rather serene one. It is loud enough to be heard, of course, and we don't mind singing a solo if we can, but we have no objection to other good people singing also—or even joining in on the chorus, if you understand what I mean. In other words, we want people to know the merits of our product If we can present our proposition in a frank, unbiased, though possibly unique manner and we attract attention by reason of it, without injuring other legitimate advertisers—we have accomplished our purpose. That's fair, isn't it?

Royal B. Lee, Advertising Manager

COPYRIGHT 1923 S.S.T. CO.

Just a little exclamation—designed to remind you of your inherent desire for bodily and mental comfort. It's a natural desire—this desire for comfort—and the feeling of security is closely associated with it. If you feel secure you can be comfortable—and this is a big step toward happiness. Worth considering isn't it?

This illustration helps you visualize how desirable it would be to have dependable tire equipment when you travel on roads that are "off the beaten path". Our obliging Indian character in the foreground suggests that you would make no mistake if you used Savage Tires.

A descriptive heading—used to coordinate the exclamatory title, the illustration and the text that follows.

Here we would have you know that the joys of motoring can be overshadowed by a feeling of anxiety or a sense of fear if proper precaution is not taken. We are more concerned with your enjoying your trip, however, than we are with dire consequences. We suggest that caution is in order—rather than thoughtlessness.

This is the closing argument. These are some of the worth-while considerations you may have by making your next tire purchase from our complete line.

We endorse the dealers listed here. They are prepared to assist you in making a wise selection. They can recommend the type of tire best suited to your needs.

ON THAT CROSS-COUNTRY TRIP

in the mountains, or wherever it may be, it is a comfortable feeling to know that the tires on your car are "sure-footed," that you can rely upon them to hold the road when holding the road is most desirable—after a rain, perhaps; on a slippery dirt road; or a treacherous, slimy pavement.

To claim that a tire will skid under no conceivable condition is to claim something that is not true. To claim that the Savage "Aristocrat" Cord grips the road—and does it without retarding the engine or losing traction efficiency—is stating a fact. For this was a matter of deep consideration in designing the Aristocrat tread.

On treacherous roads—when tire failure would be highly inconvenient, or even dangerous—when dependability is most desirable—then, more than ever, you will appreciate a tire like the Aristocrat Cord.

THOROUGHBREDS TO RACE AGAIN IN CALIFORNIA

Talforan Race Track to Open Nov. 17; 600 Horses Entered

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25 (Associated Press.)—Between 500 and 600 horses will be on hand November 3 for the opening of Tanforan, the new race track near here, when horse racing in California will be revived, after seventeen years, John D. Stelling, manager of the Pacific Coast Jockey Club, announced here. The horses are coming from every part of the United States, and several of them will be here from Hawaii.

Prominent owners who will have California stables, Mr. Stelling said, include: C. K. G. Billings, Thomas Fortune Ryan, Harry Payne Whitney, Sam Hildreth, and A. K. Macomber, all of New York; Frank J. Kelley of Chicago, C. A. Hartwell of Honolulu, A. B. Spreckels, Rudolph Spreckels, and Herbert Fleishhacker of San Francisco and J. A. Widener of Philadelphia.

Frank J. Kelley will ship sixty horses from Kentucky to Warm Springs, Calif., this summer, Mr. Stelling announced. This will be a permanent stable for the horses owned by the Chicago sportsman, and the stable will include the famous Chatterton and Paicines.

Four of C. A. Hartwell's horses have arrived from Honolulu for the Tanforan season, and three more will arrive in July, according to word received from Mr. Hartwell. The four horses are all by Harvester.

California is the home of many retired race horses, and the number is being increased each year, according to sporting authorities. Horses that have brought thousands of race fans to their feet by their final burst of speed on the home-stretch, today trot the cool, green meadows of the Golden State.

Runnymere, sire of the famous Morvich, a California horse; Vorhies, full brother to Harvester; Dr. Leggo and Hand Grenade are four of the retired horses in the A. B. Spreckels stable here. Palo Alto and War Cry are on the retired list in the Rudolph Spreckels stable. A. K. Macomber's list includes: War Fame, Liberty Loan, Gun Sight, and The Falconer, while Svenson Christenson has the fleet War Shot. In Nevada, George Wingfield's stallions include: Atheling, 2nd; Star Master, and Honeywood.

NOBODY AT HOME IN WASHINGTON

Everyone Vacates for the Summer Except Hughes and New

By A. L. BRADFORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 25 (United Press).—Official Washington is a desert.

The hot July sun beats down on the pavements. The asphalt "squashes" under the feet of unfortunate pedestrians out in the heat of mid-day. An occasional clerk or under-secretary saunters from one department to another.

The United States government is on a vacation.

President Harding is in Alaska, where many a pair of wistful eyes turn in following his movements.

Congress is out of town, too. Standing as bulwarks of "duty before all" are two lone cabinet members who announce that they will "stick it out on this line if it takes all summer." They are Secretary of State Hughes and Postmaster General New, who will remain at their desks without taking any leave that could be dignified by the name of vacation.

The line-up of President Harding's "absentee cabinet" is as follows:

Secretary of State Hughes, who remains here all summer, finding relief from well-known Washington heat only through his residence at the summer home he maintains just on the outskirts of the city.

Postmaster General New, who also intends to tsick to Washington all summer.

Secretary of War Weeks, who will spend as much time, if not more, on periodic trips to his home in the mountains of New Hampshire, than in Washington.

Secretary of the Navy Denby, who is spending a month or so of vacation at his summer home on one of the lakes of Michigan.

Attorney General Daugherty, who is leaving shortly for the Pacific coast to join President Harding upon the latter's return from Alaska, for the purpose of taking up a number of important questions with the executive during the return to Washington.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who is now on a trip to Europe.

Secretary of Labor Davis, touring Europe.

Secretary of Interior Work, who is accompanying President Harding on the Alaskan trip.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover, who joined the President on the Alaskan trip.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, also with the presidential party.

CHILD HEALTH ASSOCIATION TO CONTINUE

Investigation Shows Demonstrations Are of Distinct Benefit

After a year's experiment, in which child health in all its ramifications has been studied in a child health demonstration financed by the American Red Cross at Mansfield in Richland county, Ohio, and supervised by the American Child Health Association, Dr. George T. Palmer, research director for the latter organization, is on the ground at Mansfield to make a survey of the work already accomplished. Results, from other investigations during the year, showed that much had been accomplished in learning what could be done to improve child health in general.

It is the intention of the American Child Health Association, according to Dr. Palmer, to give every child his right to good health, and it is hoped to establish through teaching and literature a system by which his parents and teachers can give him this right.

The demonstration will continue for four years more. The aims of the American Child Health Association are to consider the health of the child from birth through school age. Its headquarters are at 532 Seventeenth street, Washington, D. C., and its executive offices at 370 Seventh avenue, New York.

PLAN STIMULATION OF CIVILIAN AIR PILOTS BY RACE

ST. LOUIS, July 25.—(Associated Press.)—Elaborate plans to stimulate commercial aviation among civilians are being made by the St. Louis Air Board and Flying club, in connection with the international air races to be held here October 1, 2 and .

Three of the events will be open to civilians only, although they may enter two of the others. Boy manufacturers of model airplanes propelled by only a rubber band have not been forgotten in the list of events. The Mulvihill trophy and $300 in prizes are offered to the member of the Junior Flying league whose home-made airplane model flies the farthest in a total of three trials. The only motive power will be that derived from the use of rubber bands.

MINISTER BANS "WET" YARDMEN

[By Associated Press]

HONOLULU, T. H., July 25.—K. Kobayashi, Japanese, has rendered excellent service as yardman for the past five years at the home of the Rev. John P. Erdman, field secretary of the Hawaiian Evangelical association, except for one thing which has just come to light—Kobayashi secretly insisted on maintaining a sake press on the Erdman premises.

Federal prohibition officers found the press and 30 quarts of completed sake, a Japanese liquor, in the bag yard of the Erdman residence. Rev. Mr. Erdman expressed surprise at the discovery.

Kobayashi is under arrest and Dr. Erdman is advertising for a "Japanese yardman—must not be a bootlegger."

FIRPO AND WILLS ARE LOGICAL CONTENDERS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 25 (United Press).—Just a year ago Jack Dempsey was forced practically into retirement because of the scarcity of "logical contenders" for the heavyweight championship.

Every aspirant for the title was loaded down with some kind of a "too" that would not develop the steam necessary to put over one of the modern heavyweight scraps.

Gibbons was too little; Willard was too old; Wills was too dark; Firpo was too green; Beckett was too horizontal; and Carpentier was too through.

In the short space of a few months, the whole situation was turned over, several "toos" were removed, and now Dempsey has in the makings enough work to keep him busy for a year and bring him another fortune.

Tommy Gibbons was the biggest factor in bringing the heavyweight division back as the leader in the known in a decade.

It was Gibbons who exploded the popular belief that Dempsey was too good for any of his rivals and that the best of the contenders for the title would be little better than a set-up for the champion.

When Gibbons went through 15 rounds with Dempsey without being knocked off his feet, Dempsey lost all his claim to the title of an invincible superman, and it was logical to figure that if a light heavyweight like Gibbons could keep Dempsey away for 15 rounds, that some heavier man, with a little class, could give the champion a great battle.

Some opinion exists that Dempsey "carried" Gibbons for the very purpose of destroying confidence in his ability so that he could get some big shots against the other contenders.

Dempsey's poor showing against Bill Brennan the last time they met, when Brennan went 12 rounds with the champion, made the Carpentier fight possible, because the public figured that the champion had slipped and that the Frenchman would have a real chance to win.

Perhaps Dempsey did not extend himself against Gibbons. No one knows but Dempsey, but few who saw the fight in Shelby on the Fourth had many doubts that the champion was doing his best and that he really tried to knock Gibbons out.

As a result of that bank-wrecking Shelby affair, Dempsey has two big fights in prospect with Luis Firpo, the South American giant, and Harry Wills, the big colored stevedore. Another match with Gibbons would also be an attractive card.

Chinese Problem Is Discussed by Baptists

[By Associated Press]

STOCKHOLM, July 25.—By taking the salvation of the Chinese people rather than the propagation of mere institutionalism as the main objectvies, "our big brothers" can help us, Dr. C. S. Maio, of Shanghai, said at today's session of the Baptist World Alliance.

"They can help us," he said, "by educating and utilizing more of our strong leaders by putting more emphasis upon democratic cooperation and by encouraging our leaders to conduct the churches in a Chinese way so that our people can understand His teaching more clearly.

"In name our country has been politically revolutionized, but in reality the attitudes and habits of our people need yet to be radically changed. No matter how discouraging the presnt situation is, however, it is perfectly clear that the challenge to the church of Pesus Christ in China at this hour is most imperative.

"We feel that we have been handicapped in many ways. As Baptists we have no national consciousness, being divided into various nationalities. As an institution, our churches are out and out foreign in the eyes of our countrymen and cannot make our people feel at home. However, we hope and believe there is a way out."

TO WORK

My Boy, don't forget we are counting on you:
To help do the work that the world has to do,
To do it with spirit, good cheer and smile,
And to do it today, nor to say "after while."
There's a whole lot of work in the world to be done
There are treasures to find, there are joys to be won,
There are tasks to be done all the busy day through,
So, my Boy, don't forget we are counting on you.

We are counting on you far the best of your will
For the best of your spirit and purpose and skill:
If someone has failed in the place he was in,
We are counting on you, Boy, to pitch in and win
Or with plow on with axe or with shovel or spade,
Somewhere and somehow there's the thing to be made,
Or the crop to be reaped or the hill tunneled through,
And what it may be, we are counting on you.

So forth to the work, Boy, the work that is near,
With hands that are willing and eyes seeing clear;
With minds set with purpose, with smile and with song,
How stern be the struggle, the way be how long.
The tool that has fallen, the axe with its rust,
Let's pick up and brighten, since need says we must;
So short are the hours and so much there's to do,
My Boy, don't forget we are counting on you.

Editorials by the People

To the Editor of the Eagle Rock Daily Press:

Dear Sir:

Your repeated reference to my encounters with the defunct and surviving fragments of the ex-Eagle Rock force of motor cops, and their associates in Ventura county, has become such a continuous performance, that I feel moved to take my trusty typewriter in hand and make reply. Since I am not in public life, I hardly think I am entitled to so much publicity, neither do I see how I am to profit by it.

It is true that one of them once tried to arrest me for stopping my car, carrying an annexation banner, in front of the ex-city hall and behind one of the opposition carrying a similar device, where both had a right to be, and that I resented the attempt of the motor cop to call me down in language and manner to which I am not used, do not like and won't have; that he and I engaged in a pushing match on the sidewalk, in front of the seat of government like a couple of bulls in the pasture back on the farm where I came from; but since honors were even and no harm was done, and since the city attorney begged me not to sue the city for false arrest, and since I did not because the wasn't any, when we got through with them that evening, therefore, I think this matter ought to be allowed to drop.

It is also true that I was arrested by a local officer and reporter on a warrant from Ventura county, and charged with going down the Caneje grade in excess of 15 miles per hour, just as another member of the Occidental faculty was, for going over the Eagle Rock bridge at the same rate of speed. The decision of the supreme court in this case had not yet filtered into these remote parts and it was necessary for me to take a day off from the teaching of chemistry to educate the J. P. and M. C. in the mysteries of this decision. This arrest was made by a member of the local force and I was sorry to inconvenience him by making him take me before a neighboring justice of the peace to give a property bond as required by law, with my fellow democrat, Mr. Feaster, as one of the sureties, and to disappoint the officer by failing to put up a cash bond as requested.

It is also true that I was arrested by the same officer and correspondent for your valued daily and charged with going more than 20 miles per hour on Pasadena avenue, and, since it has been customary to try my cases in the newspaper, we will now proceed to try this one.

Defendant appeared in police court, plead not guilty and put an appearance bond, consisting of 20 units of the current coin of the realm. Case tried next day and officer stretched the charge to 37 miles per and complained that defendant kept passing him and repassing him, while he was patrolling the street. Defendant and son admitted up to 25 per and explained the discrepancy as due to the excited state of the officer's mind, because of failure to run defendant out of the east side polling booth, when he and others were checking the count of votes at the late unpleasantness. The city attorney called for exemplary punishment because of defendant's dfiant and non-compliant attitude and Hizzener soaked him 50 bucks for contradicting the policeman and presuming to make a defense to the speed charge. Defendant appealed and put up a $200 property bond instead of a $250 cash one as stated. He is inclined to think that the officer correspondent, while in the main correct as to other facts, yet when ti comes to figures, is prone to draw on his imagination instead of looking at his speedometer. Defendant is still trying to pull down the $20 cash bail and has offered it to his attorney as a contribution to the alumni fund of their common college if he can succeed in getting it out of the clutches of the clerk. Since defendant is informed by his attorney that the complaint in this case, just as in the bridge case, the rubber stamp case, the Caneje grade case and most other speed cases, does not charge a public offense, the defendant is not worrying about the 50, but only about the 20.

Fellow citizens: The laws of the state of California protect the citizen in his pursuit of happiness, whether on two legs or four wheels, and whether he rides on rubber or walks on leather. The famous Eagle Rock fining machine has gone to the junk heap, although some of the cog wheels are still buzzing around and attempting to carry its small town practices into the larger city. We once stood at the crossing of the road and like the robber barons of old levied a tribute of many thousands of dollars on the passing public, but this has passed. Let us hope that the new Breed bil will straighten out some of the kinks in the speed laws and that the circulating motorist will no longer be called on to circulate so much of the circulating medium.

OPEN HILL DRIVE IN TWO MONTHS, PREDICTION

Philip Nufer Donates Dangerous Corner Property for Street

What might be characterized as the finishing touches of the project of the opening of Hill drive to the eastern city limits of Eagle Rock, is found in the donation of a triangular strip of property at the northwest corner of the junction of Hill drive and Colorado boulevard according to Dr. A. S. Johnson, who personally exercised every influence toward the accomplishment of this measure.

Dr. Johnson states that in a public spirited manner Philip Nufer, who owned property projecting at such an angle into the proposed junction of Hill avenue and Colorado boulevard, that it would have constituted a dangerous corner, has donated a sufficient territory at this point in order to widen the street and give the corner a sloping turn. The property thus donated is 13 feet in depth.

The opening of Hill drive will be completed in two months. In the minds of residents taking pride in this section of the city, which has been likened to botanical gardens, the opening of Hill drive will mark another significant achievement for Eagle Rock. It has been said that the autoist does not see Eagle Rock until he has driven over Hill drive and seen the many beautiful homes at the foot of the hills.

WOMAN IS THE FIRST ENTRANT IN AIR TOURNEY

ST. LOUIS, July 25. — (United Press.—Officials of the St. Louis Air Board, in charge of the International Air Races of 1923, to be held at St. Louis field, October 1, 2 and 3, have announced receipt of the first of more than 250 entries expected in the eight events. It was from Mrs. Bertha Dale Horchem of Ransom, Kan., who, in a trial at St. Louis field, July 5, reached a naltitude of 16,300 feet, being the highest flight any woman has ever made.

Mrs. Horchem will compete in the "On to St. Louis Race," for which the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce is offering a valuable trophy in addition to the cash prize of $1,000.

In this race, which is open to civilians only, planes will be flown from all sections of the country to St. Louis, points being awarded on the speed, the distance, and the number of passengers carried, as well as the horsepower of the engines.

Last year, in the similar On to Detroit Race," more than 100 pilots from all over the United States competed in this specific race. The winner of this Detroit race was Walter H. Beach of Wichita, Kan., who took first prize in a Laird Swallow." It is a coincidence that Mrs. Horchem flies this same type of airplane.

A Help to Business Men—

Some people still look upon a bank merely as a place to deposit or borrow money.

But wide-awake business men—merchants, professional men, farmers—go to their banker for business information.

They draw on his general knowledge of all kinds of business—and from his broader view of nation-wide conditions—for advice on their own particular problems.

Come in at any time and talk things over. We will be glad to see you—and to help you all we can.
